1. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 4-11 have been renumbered 3-10. Applicant skipped number three when numbering the claims.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 3-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Field et al. (3,975,116). Field discloses a fluent control valve including an inlet port 18, a plenum 36, a fluid control plate 28, a fluid control surface 29, a nozzle 56, a nozzle plate 42 and a nozzle inflow surface 40 wherein 29 has a slight angle with respect to 40 as is shown in figure 3 and the two surfaces are translatable as shown in figure 4. In regard to claims 3-10, inasmuch as Field discloses the same claimed type of pressure valve with the same claimed elements, the valve of Field must perform in the same manner as the disclosed valve including forming a hydrodynamic fluid pintle when in use regardless of whether or not the Field reference recognized this fact.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Field et al. (3,975,116) in view of Long et al. (2003/0062495) and Carrillo et al. (2002/0117644).

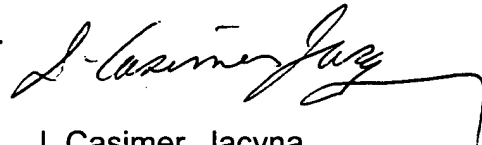

Field discloses a pressure valve substantially as claimed but does not disclose the nozzle inlet to be radiused with an outlet nozzle flare. However, Long and Carrillo teach other pressure valves having a radiused inlet as at 32 in Long, and an outlet flare as at 36 in Long for the purpose of assuring the fluid achieves supersonic flow. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the valve of Field with nozzle having a radiused inlet and an outlet flare as, for example, taught by Long and Carrillo, in order to assure the fluid achieves supersonic flow.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Borissov et al., and Griensteidl et al., teach other supersonic valves.
